Kennedy Calls For Big Army Buildup Now

Tells Nation Peace Without Surrender Is American Goal

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday night announced a $3,247,000,000 military buildup to meet the Communist threat against Berlin and other free world areas.

In a somber radio-TV report on the state of world affairs, Kennedy asked for an increase in the authorized strength of the Army from 875,000 to approximately a million men.

He ordered draft calls doubled and tripled in coming months.

He also announced that he will ask Congress for authority to call up certain ready reserve units and individual reservists. A number of air transport squadrons and Air National Guard tactical air squadrons will be ordered to active duty "to give us the air lift capacity and protection we may need."

Kennedy did not call for an immediate tax increase to meet the new military spending because "improved business outlook means improved revenues."

But he said that if necessary he would ask higher taxes next January when he hopes to submit a balanced budget for fiscal 1963.

Confident Of Support

The President said that while increased taxes are never popular, he was sure every American "wants to pay his fair share and not leave the burden of defending freedom entirely on those who bear arms."

The President's formal requests which go to Congress Wednesday will be in a brief budget outline rather than a full-dress message.

He made his prepared address to Americans Tuesday against a background of world trouble and tension which he said had its source in Moscow and not Berlin.

"If war begins," the President said, "it will have begun in Moscow, not Berlin."

Kennedy said the freedom of West Berlin was "not negotiable." But he added that the United States was willing to consider "any arrangement or treaty in Germany consistent with the maintenance of peace and freedom and the legitimate security interests of all nations."

"While we are ready to defend our interests, we shall also be ready to search for peace in quiet exploratory talks in formal or informal meetings," he added.

Won't Relinquish Rights

The Chief Executive declared flatly that the West could not permit Soviet Russia to end the legal rights of the West in Berlin.

At the same time, he warned that the actions he outlined would require immediate sacrifice "on the part of many citizens." And he said more sacrifices would be required in the future to honor this country's commitments to the two million West Berliners.

"We cannot and will not permit the Communists to drive us out of Berlin either gradually or by force," he said.

"We do not want to fight, but we have fought before."

"The endangered frontier of freedom runs through divided Berlin," he said. "We want it to remain a frontier of peace."

"This is the hope of every citizen of the Atlantic community; every citizen of Eastern Europe, and, I am confident, every citizen of the Soviet Union."

"For I cannot believe that the Russian peoples — who bravely suffered enormous losses in the Second World War — would now wish to see the peace upset once more in Germany. The Soviet government alone can convert Berlin's frontier of peace into a pretext for war," Kennedy said.

Budget Hike Necessary

Kennedy said his program would result in a defense budget increase of $3,454,000,000 including an extra $207 million for civil defense.

This will bring the defense budget for the current fiscal year to $47.5 billion, a $6 billion increase since Kennedy submitted his original budget last January.

Kennedy prefaced his military recommendations by saying the United States, faced with Russia's threat to Berlin, had to build its capacity for conventional warfare to avoid having to choose between "humiliation or all out nuclear action."

About half of the new defense money the President sought will be used for procurement of non-nuclear weapons, ammunition and equipment.

While the President stopped far short of asking for new emergency powers or a formal declaration, (Continued on Page 2, col. 3)

Eichmann Trial Recessed After Seventy Days

JERUSALEM (AP)—The trial of Adolf Eichmann adjourned Tuesday after 70 days of testimony to give opposing attorneys time to prepare their final arguments. Eichmann looked wan and worn when the Israeli court ordered the adjournment.

The former SS colonel, who has pleaded he was only one of many engaged in the Nazi massacre of the Jews, will wait out the recess under surveillance in his cell in the court building.

Israel's attorney general, Gideon Hausner, and Eichmann's West German defense counsel, Robert Servatius, will start summing up their cases Aug. 3. The verdict is expected in October.

Eichmann sat slumped in his glass dock at the end. He stared at his hands. His mouth was pinched and his face wan after the long hearings in which he has heard himself described as "the great expediter of death" and a man "who did nothing without orders."

The two phrases sum up the essence of the prosecution and defense arguments in the trial.

Eichmann never budged—even during 25 days of blistering cross-examination—from his contention that he consulted his Gestapo superiors even on the smallest details.

The defendant said in recorded testimony that he believed he would get the death penalty and does not expect to live beyond 55, his present age.

Quell Riots In Mexico

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mexico (UPI)—Mexican army troops and riot police fought street battles Tuesday with more than 1,000 irate political supporters of a defeated gubernatorial candidate.

More than 20 persons were injured, four seriously. Fifteen persons were arrested on charges of fomenting "sedition and revolt."

Tear gas grenades, nightsticks, rifle butts, rocks and fists were employed in the free-for-all in front of the political headquarters of the defeated candidate, Dr. Salvador Nava Martinez. He was placed under house arrest.

The rioting climaxed 24 hours of tension in which army troops were alerted after Nava Martinez followers threatened a "total shut down" of business, industry and public transport. They contended he had won a July 2 election which the government said he lost, two-to-one.

Labor Committee Okays Retraining

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor Committee Tuesday unanimously approved the administration's bill for retraining of unemployed workers whose skills have become obsolete.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., principal sponsor of the bill, was authorized to report the measure to the Senate floor on behalf of the committee.

Chrysler Replies To Union On New Contract Demand

DETROIT (UPI)—Chrysler replied Tuesday to the United Auto Workers' "inflationary" new contract demands by saying the corporation's 50,000 factory workers already are getting 45 cents an hour more than the average manufacturing wage earner in the United States.

Chrysler Vice President John D. Leary said that over the past three years the firm's payroll totaled nearly $2 billion, most of which "was paid directly to UAW-represented employees in their pay checks. Many more millions were paid in the form of fringe benefits."

The UAW disputed the figures. A union spokesman accused the company of "grossly exaggerating the income of Chrysler workers for the purpose of strengthening its position at the bargaining table."

The UAW said Chrysler's own figures showed the company paid $1.135 billion to hourly-rated workers, "not the almost $2 billion claimed by Chrysler in its propaganda handout today."

Leary said Chrysler's gross hourly wage cost is $3.57 an hour, including $2.79 in base wages and 78 cents in fringe benefits.

"The average of $2.79 an hour is 45 cents an hour more than the May average of $2.34 an hour paid to all employees in the United States who are engaged in manufacturing operations," Leary said.

The health service said they halted production about a month ago, some 11 months after the virus first was discovered.

The PHS said sufficient vaccine was available despite the shutdown. The spokesman said 17.7 million doses would be produced this summer, just about equal to anticipated demand.

The virus, known as SV-40, was discovered about a year ago in Rhesus monkeys. Salk vaccine is made from the kidneys of these monkeys.

The virus also was found in some doses of Sabin live oral polio vaccine, which is not yet on the market.

The health service's technical committee on polio vaccine investigated the matter twice.

They wrote Surgeon General Luther Terry that although the virus did not appear to harm humans or dilute the vaccine's power, it should be eliminated for the sake of purity.

During the last three months only virus-free vaccine has been released to doctors, the health service said.

One official said he believed Merck, Sharpe and Dohme and Parke-Davis suspended Salk vaccine production because they were not satisfied with their efforts to screen out the virus.

In Pittsburgh, Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the vaccine, said "the problem is an internal and technical one and will have no effect on the availability of vaccine in this country."

He said the suspension of production also "has no effect on the availability of vaccines as far as I know."

He said the suspension of production also "has no effect on the availability of vaccines as far as I know."

WASHINGTON (AP)—By a vote of 16 to 0, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved Tuesday a resolution opposing U.S. recognition of Communist China and its admission to the United Nations.

The resolution now goes to the Senate. If the Senate passes it, and the House follows suit, Congress will have put on the record what it already has put on the record many times before.

Similar resolutions have been passed periodically. Senate Republicans are insisting on another this year in hopes it will help stem growing worldwide sentiment for admitting the Red Chinese into the United Nations.

Tuesday's resolution had an extra provision. This would put Congress on record as feeling that the United States should continue to meet its obligations to the Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa.

On another Asian matter, which many Senate Republicans feel is related, Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., opposed any recognition of Outer Mongolia, a Communist state lying between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

New Clashes May Develop In Tunisia

Bourguiba Wants French To Leave Bizerte Positions

TUNIS (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba declared Tuesday "fighting is bound to start again" if the French cling to their battle-won positions at Bizerte. He appealed to the U.N. Security Council for further action to force them back.

"We have decided to resist until the end and we are prepared for new hostilities," the Tunisian leader told a news conference. "We have decided to inform the Security Council that this cannot continue."

Bourguiba said other nations where France has military bases should act against those bases. He apparently referred to Morocco, where France shares one small base with the United States; and to nearly a dozen former colonies in Africa where France maintains a network of naval, air and army installations.

Offered military help by some of Tunisia's Arab League partners, Bourguiba said he has informed them that he needs trained guerrilla fighters, planes, guns and mobile antiaircraft batteries.

Bourguiba spoke of possible new violence despite the presence of U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, who arrived Monday night as the president's invited guest on a peace-making and fact-finding mission.

He omitted reference to Hammarskjold when he announced the new appeal to the Security Council. The secretary-general's presence has done little to ease Tunisian bitterness at French dominance at Bizerte, where France kept a naval-air base by treaty after granting this former protectorate independence in 1956.

Bourguiba accused French troops of violating the Security Council's cease-fire order by refusing to withdraw to their pre-battle positions within the military enclave, though his own troops also have made no move to pull back.

The Tunisians want the French expelled from both the city of Bizerte, where Bourguiba declared they are acting like conquerors; and from the naval-air installations.

Cabinet Meets Without JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy Cabinet is holding regular but unofficial meetings without the President, it was learned Tuesday, because Kennedy views most formal Cabinet sessions as a waste of time.

With the President's approval and encouragement, Cabinet officers are meeting every second Wednesday at a different department. The Aug. 2 meeting will be at the Pentagon, and two weeks later the Treasury will be the host.

Although Kennedy consults his Cabinet members as individuals more than many recent presidents, he prefers to call together only those directly concerned with the problems at hand.

FBI Moves To Break Plot To Hijack 5 More Planes

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI moved quickly Tuesday to foil a purported Cuban plot to hijack five more American commercial airliners and fly them to Havana. Police swarmed over metropolitan airports throwing up special safeguards.

"We're taking all possible precautions," said an Eastern Air Lines spokesman. "We are working closely with the FBI and the State Department."

Eastern, National Airlines and Northeast Airlines, the major New York to Miami carriers, were said to be the targets of the purported plot by supporters of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Their flight schedules were not interrupted. A Northeast spokesman said: "We are not arming our crews."

An Eastern airliner was hijacked over Florida Monday and forced to fly to Havana. The

Reds Planning 31-Mile Zone Around Berlin Escape Routes

BERLIN (UPI) — An authoritative Western source Tuesday said the Communists are weighing plans to set up a 31-mile-wide "forbidden zone" around Berlin to cut off the escape routes for East Germans fleeing to the West.

The Reds were reported to have created a new "no man's land" on the border between East and West Germany.

The "forbidden zone," from which all East Germans would be barred without special authorization, would gird the city in a giant circle manned by what the West German defense ministry described as the "greatest troop concentration in the world."

The Bonn ministry last week said Russia and East Germany had deployed 67,500 troops and 1,205 tanks in a 40-mile perimeter around the city, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

The East German Communists have taken stern measures to halt the exodus to the West. Border patrols have been tightened and strict controls imposed on East German traffic bound for Berlin. There were other reprisals, too.

The East Berlin newspaper Der Morgen said two East Berliners who refused to quit jobs in West Berlin had been evicted from their homes. It hinted that all of the 53,000 Eastern residents who work in the West face a similar fate. The move was a violation of the city's four-power status under which free movement in the entire city is guaranteed.

The nearly unparalleled flight of East Germans, fearful that a Soviet treaty with East Germany would trap them behind the Iron Curtain, was reported to have caused serious labor shortages. The Communist press also admitted growing discontent among the farmers.

Another 1,046 East Germans applied for asylum in West Berlin during the past 24 hours, bringing to more than 24,500 the total of refugees this month. It was the biggest mass flight from East Germany since the workers revolt in 1953.

Railroads Face Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for American railroads said Tuesday "a crisis of monumental proportions" is near at hand for his industry. He urged swift congressional action.

In letters to Senate and House leaders, Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads, said the recent bankruptcy of the New Haven Railroad pointed up the "intolerable burdens" of what he called government policy inequities.

Congress can take certain actions in a matter of days, he said. He urged that these include:

1. Repeal of the excise tax on passenger traffic.
2. The granting of "more realistic tax treatment to the depreciation of railroad property to stimulate capital investment and plant modernization."

Release Of Missionaries In Congo Reported By UN

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—The United Nations Tuesday announced the "release" of 30 American, British and Canadian missionaries were arrested for allegedly distributing anti-Communist literature in the Oriental Province stronghold of Soviet-backed Antoine Gizenga.

But it was not made clear whether the missionaries actually were freed or were still under some restrictions. And there were reports of additional arrests in the province.

A message received at U.N. headquarters here from U.N. Ethiopian troops guarding the missionaries reported that the prisoners had been "released." But the message also said that Gizenga's troops had refused to

Castro Keeps Hijacked EAL Transport

FBI Begins Probe; Identity Of Air Bandit Uncertain

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Thirty-two passengers and five crewmen of a hijacked Eastern Air Lines Electra returned from Cuba Tuesday. They told how a lone Latin seized control of the big airliner.

"He looked like a Cuban to me," said Raymond Waller, an EAL employee who lives in Coral Gables, Fla., "but I heard him say that he was an American citizen."

None of those aboard ever was told the name of the hijacker, but a reliable source said a man identified on the passenger list only as "J. Martin" did not return from Cuba. He had bought a ticket from Miami to Tampa.

The man was last seen by the other passengers as he was led away from the airliner by Cuban soldiers.

Impressions Differ

Impressions of the holdup man varied. Waller said he was slim and of medium height and wore a dark suit, a straw hat and dark glasses. George Nathanson, Miami attorney, said he was tall and thin and wore a sport coat and brown straw hat.

After being detained since their landing Monday morning, the passengers and crewmen were freed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro. They flew to Miami on one of the twice-daily flights operated by Pan American Airways between Florida and Havana.

Their treatment was courteous and they were served excellent food, said Al Lanken of North Miami Beach. But during their stay at the airport hotel he said, "you couldn't move. There was a gun in front of you and behind you."

Plane Impounded

Castro gave no hint that he would release the $3.5-million aircraft. Some members of Congress said the United States should demand its return, and back up the demand with force.

"Here is the occasion for which we have been waiting," said Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., "because here is an act of piracy pure and simple."

Castro threatened in a radio-television speech July 5 to seize any American aircraft hijacked and flown into Cuba.

Presumably, this would be in retaliation for the Cuban planes confiscated in this country by Miami advertising man Erwin Harris.

Government officials said there was a distinction, however. Cuban planes were taken over by law in the United States for satisfaction of unpaid Cuban debts.

FBI Enters Picture

In New York, the FBI moved to break up a purported Cuban plot to hijack five more American commercial airliners and fly them to Havana. Eastern, National and Northeast airlines, the major New York-to-Miami carriers, were said to be the targets of the plot.

Crew Questioned

Members of the Electra crew headed by the pilot, Capt. W. E. Buchanan, were hustled off by FBI agents on their return here for questioning about the incident.

The tall, thin Buchanan said the man entered the cockpit with a gun in his hand "and told me to turn the plane around."

"I said, 'where to?'"

"He said, 'Havana.'"

"He gave me headings to fly by, generally 210 degrees. They were about right, but I don't think he was a pilot. I made an extremely wide turn so Miami radar would know I was off course."

"He told me to turn the radio off."

Buchanan said he asked the man why he didn't take a regular flight to Havana and was told

Conservatives Trim British Economic Sails; Jump Taxes

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — Britain's conservative government trimmed the nation's economic sails Tuesday with a 40 per cent boost in interest rates and a sharp tax curb on home consumption.

From midnight on, Britons will feel the pinch of the new austerity program in their pocket-books. Cigarettes, alcoholic drinks, gasoline, automobiles, household goods and many other consumer items will cost more.

After almost a decade of buying these items as never before, the British again must pull in their belts. The problem is that despite prosperity at home, the cost of British manufactured goods is going up and new competitors abroad have cropped up in postwar markets.

British goods are not selling as well abroad, and this island nation lives on international trade. Gold and dollar reserves have been falling, imports have exceeded exports. There has been a

U. E. BAUGHMAN

U. S. Secret Service Head Will Retire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. E. Baughman announced Tuesday he will retire as chief of the Secret Service to rest and write a "good clean book" of reminiscences.

The 56-year-old Camden, N.J., native joined the service 33 years ago as a clerk. He became an agent in 1934 and chief in 1948.

As chief, Baughman has been in charge of protecting the lives of Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy.

In an exchange of letters with his boss, Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, Baughman said he will retire Aug. 31 because "I need a complete rest."

Amplifying on this in an interview with United Press International, Baughman said his seven-day-a-week job as head of the service's 360 agents and 162 uniformed White House police has worn him down.

"I'm not a kid any more. I want to quit while I can still enjoy life," he said.

"This job builds up tension. Let a younger fellow take it."

Baughman declined to say who the "younger fellow" might be. He has recommended several possible successors to Dillon. It was speculated that the list might include Paul J. Paterni, deputy chief brought here from Chicago last January, and Michael W. Torina, chief inspector.

Castro Keeps

Notified Cuba

"After we passed Key West, he told me to turn the radio on again and notify Cuba that we were coming. I know they didn't expect us. I think some of them thought we were Gagarin when we landed."

Buchanan said the man claimed he was an American and "I had no reason to doubt the statement."

"He said very little during the flight and he gave no reason for wanting to go to Cuba."

Buchanan said that in Havana "various minor officials, sort of like second lieutenants, said they would keep the plane."

Waller said the sun pouring in the left-hand window when the plane was only 20 minutes out of Miami showed that something was amiss. The plane, bound for Tampa, New Orleans and Dallas, had turned south.

A short time earlier, Waller, 48, saw the hijacker push his way into the cockpit.

"We weren't aware of what had happened until the stewardess realized that the door to the cockpit was locked from the inside and the captain wouldn't talk to her over the intercom," he said.

The pilot said nothing, Waller related, until the plane was circling over Havana. Then he told the passengers of the holdup.

J. H. Laher Jr., 43, a Sealtest Milk Co. executive from Coral Gables, said the captain reported, "The man came into the cockpit and pointed the gun at my head. It was the largest gun I ever saw."

Soldiers Line Runway

When the plane landed, Waller went on, the runway was lined with armed soldiers. They boarded the plane and the hijacker opened the cockpit door.

The passengers were searched and kept in an airport waiting room for four hours. Wallets of some of the men were taken, but they were returned later.

The plane arrived amid the confusion of preparations for the 26th of July celebration—anniversary of Castro's revolt—and the arrival of the Soviet cosmonaut, Yuri Gagarin. The passengers saw Gagarin land in Havana.

NILES, Mich. (AP) — George B. Bolton, widely known typesetting expert and chief machinist for the South Bend (Ind.) Tribune, died in his home here Monday of a heart attack.

The 59-year-old Bolton had devised several improvements for typesetting machines and was regarded as an authority on modifying equipment for high-speed operation. He was a director of the Great Lakes Newspaper Mechanical Conference.

Bolton came to the Tribune in 1947 from the Joliet (Ill.) Herald-News. Funeral services will be here at 10 a.m. Thursday, with burial in Joliet.

Adenauer Sees No Fear Of War

BONN, Germany (UPI) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Tuesday he doubts the Berlin crisis will spark a war.

"The Soviet Communist Party meeting in Moscow in October is to consider a 20-year plan of the Soviet government," Adenauer told the press club here. "But the presentation of a 20-year plan would be nonsense if there was going to be a war."

Farm Referendum Delayed One Month

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday signed a bill authorizing a one-month delay in holding a farmer referendum on approval of marketing quotas for the 1962 wheat crop.

The delay in the referendum would allow time to complete passage of the bill and to distribute proposed 1962 wheat control regulations to farmers before they decide whether to accept the controls.

State Proposes $10 Million Building Program In Budget

BALTIMORE (AP)—A record $10,527,200 building program, to be included in the 1963 fiscal capital budget, was submitted Tuesday to the State Planning Department by the University of Maryland.

The university said the funds were needed to keep pace with growing enrollments.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, university president, said student enrollment was expected to be more than 12,000 this fall and exceed 16,000 by 1965.

Major items included in the budget requests were a $2.75 million arts and sciences classroom building, a $1.8 million animal and dairy sciences facility, a $1.73 million women's dormitory, all for the College Park campus, and a $1.9 million law building for the Baltimore campus.

Also requested was $236,500 for detailed work drawings for a proposed four-story out-patient building on the Baltimore campus. Although construction funds for the building have not yet been allocated, the university said it wished to get final planning under way now.

Air Force Man Is Sought In Stabbing Case

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP)—Police are looking for an Air Force man in the attempted holdup and stabbing of an apartment manager.

Detective Earl J. Huber of the Prince Georges County Police said warrants have been issued for Airman 3.C. Arnold G. Sline, 19, of Hyattsville.

He is charged with attempted holdup and robbery and assault with intent to kill the resident manager of the Merrimac Apartments, Mrs. Cora Lee Frazier, 59. The apartments are on New Hampshire Avenue in Langley Park.

An assailant stabbed Mrs. Frazier in the back last Wednesday in a holdup attempt. Sline had been scheduled to be discharged from the Air Force last Friday, police said, but has been missing since last Tuesday. He was stationed at Andrews Air Force base near Upper Marlboro. ## Lawyer Charges Client Is Being Illegally Detained BALTIMORE (AP)—A lawyer charged Tuesday that his client was being held illegally in jail here as the result of the issuance of an allegedly faulty writ.

The prisoner is Orlando E. Perrera, charged with the slaying two weeks ago of Edward J. Cassandra near a Baltimore diner.

Perrera's attorney, Alan H. Murrell, said Perrera had been transferred from city jail to the custody of police for questioning. The transfer came after issuance of a writ Murrell contended should have been used only to bring a prisoner into court.

Murrell charged that the writ was "completely invalid on its face," and that all evidence gathered by police from Perrera should be thrown out.

The lawyer requested a writ of habeas corpus to free Perrera outright or set a reasonable bail until he gets a preliminary hearing.

Tawes Names 17-Member Study Group To View Metropolitan Area Problems

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Tuesday named a 17-member study commission to seek a solution to problems affecting the Baltimore metropolitan area.

The ultimate aim, he said "will be to prepare the way toward metropolitan government in the Baltimore area."

"We must not shrink from this conclusion," Tawes said. "It is destined to come about in the long run because of inevitable continued growth."

The governor named Hooper S. Miles, longtime state treasurer and chairman of the board of the Baltimore National Bank, to serve as chairman of the study group.

Named to serve with him is a group of prominent business men, educators and state officials. Tawes also designated key executive and legislative officials of Baltimore City and Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Howard and Harford counties to serve as ex-officio members.

Tawes said that while he is proposing that some form of metropolitan government be developed to meet area problems, he thinks the city and its surrounding counties should retain their own political identities.

Tawes charged the commission to take initial steps toward "Selecting the services to be the responsibility of a metropolitan authority; prescribing the make-up of a metropolitan authority; recommending the tax powers to be vested in the authority."

The commission plans to hire a staff and indications are its work will be spread over a span of many months. It has an initial appropriation of $25,000.

Double Skirt Feature Of Paris Shows

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP)—A suit dress that fits as neatly as wallpaper kicked off Jean Patou's show on the opening day of the Paris fall and winter showings. Patou's designer followed through with a double-skirted princess line, usually showing the knees.
One mannequin actually came in with her skirt over her head, but it was all right—there was a second layer, right down to the floor. The overskirt, grabbed up as a hooded cape, later dropped down to form a slight train.
Patou must be the textile makers' dream boy this season, for nearly every skirt in his show is double, with a flared, pleated or belted overskirt cut about a skimpy inch shorter than the slim sheath underneath.
Fur coats are old hat, so are fur linings—but Patou has whipped up a beaver fur cocktail dress, worn nonchalantly under a pink wool coat.
Lumpy jeweled embroidery reached a climax in a slinky black velvet cocktail dress with tight sequined skirt.
Two-color furs seem to be emerging as a trend. Patou shows them in white and brown, while Gies in his morning showing liked brown and beige combinations.
As usual with Patou, there was something for the girls who like to wow the boys: Strapless balcony fronts, barely propped up by a jeweled buckle.
Chunky costume jewelry ran to cluster or tear-drop earrings, jet chandeliers, and thick pearl necklaces with a huge paste diamond inset.
What was billed as a shoulder-strap necklace turned out to be a backward halter, with thin straps attached only behind and choking the neck in front. Patou is also strong on off-shoulder décolletage.
Patou's general silhouette is a hippy line with fitted waist. Coats are loose with bat-wing sleeves. There are a few tiered skirts, some crisscross drapery at the waistline, either in front or behind, and jackets are usually short and fairly fitted and tailored.
Mannequins wore tall back-stacked turbans. Favored colors were brown, black, navy, grey, purple, white and bright clear red. There were several big plaids in black and brown.
A day-to-evening coat was reversible from wool flannel to wool lace. Jerseys, tweeds and tweed knits, satin, taffeta, velvet, and wadded silks were popular materials.
Backs were busy with drapery details and tricky décolletage, including a round scoop effect. There was even one bustle back for evening.
In the morning Maggie Rouff stressed a return to fullness. Coats featured a biased cut flaring wide at the bottom. Suit jackets remained classic but adopted a flared skirt. Dresses were simple, loose but biased, with shoulder or empire-level closing fastenings.
All were at kneecap level. Fur was generously used on collars and cuffs. Some furs were dyed in shades of green or violet. One suit skirt featured a hip-high flare of beaver.
Jean Barthel's giant berets followed suit with one black otto man reversing to mink. Black was the undisputed favorite for cocktail wear.
The trend was strictly North American: Models named after places in Canada and the United States were announced in ringing tones by an unmistakably American voice.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Color Guides Good Nutrition

It would be hard to find a finer nutrition expert than nature itself. By color alone, she provides all the clues necessary for a balanced diet. Remember this the next time you are confused about what to select from a restaurant menu or what to prepare for your own menu at home.

Just vary the colors of the food you put on your plate, and the right kind of nourishment will take care of itself. You won't have to worry about the duplication of similar foods—or the omission of basic requirements—if you follow this easy rule.

This is nature's purpose, of course, for putting foods into "living" color. Color is intended to attract appetites as well as to identify the types most vital for body growth and maintenance.

Nature's palette—and your plate—work together as a team for your benefit. Generally speaking, the deeper the color, the richer the vein of vitamins, minerals, or other nutrients, contained in a certain or tranquilizers, and without changing the regularity of the period in any way. Nurses confirm in this test that women actually ease through more comfortable periods.

A secret of this new discovery (called Trender® Tablets) is the way it releases excess water fluids that doctors know build up in the days before the period. This build-up causes bloating, soreness, pressure on sensitive female tissues. Trender Tablets work by releasing the excess water fluids so pressure in tissues is relieved and by relieving cramps and pain.

The ingredients in Trender Tablets are completely safe and effective taken as directed. Trender Tablets are available at all drug counters without prescription.

Former Area Man Guilty In Home Burning

The former Frostburger, one of five men indicted for the 1959 burning of the home of the first Negro family to move into Collins Park, Wilmington, Del., was found guilty Monday in Superior Court in Wilmington.

Gilbert Minnick, 50, made a no contest plea in Superior Court. Because of ill health, he was not tried in April when three other men were found guilty and a fourth was acquitted.

He was scheduled to go on trial on charges of burglarizing, committing malicious mischief and conspiring to destroy the home of George Rayfield and attempting to burn it.

Minnick's counsel offered to no contest plea but said he had no objection to a finding of guilty if the State would waive its showing of proof.

When deputy Atty. Gen. E. Norman Veasey agreed to the waiver, Judge William J. Storey found Minnick guilty.

Veasey said that in accordance with a ruling during the trial of the three other defendants, the State would drop one count of the burglary charge.

The other defendants, found guilty April 17, after an eight-day trial, are: Melvin F. Downing, 28, of suburban Overview Gardens; Albert L. Reverdito, 34, Collins Park; and Ronald H. Therkildsen, 30, also of Collins Park.

A fourth defendant, William V. Charlton, Collins Park, was acquitted. Therkildsen has sought.

The Rayfields now live in suburban Eden Park.

Swim Class Ends Instruction

Twenty boys and girls between the ages of five and eight years of age finished their YMCA "tadpole" swimming instruction in the "Y" pool.

The results of the eight-lesson class were as follows: Seven could swim at least 20 feet, four could swim between 15 and 20 feet, and nine could swim between 5 and 10 feet. All the swimming was done with their face in the water and using proper movements.

Children who could swim 15 to 20 feet were Steve Oster, Janice Wilmont, Cheryl Cunningham, Xina Lewis, Larry Abe and Leslie Baeil. Swimming 10 to 15 feet were Carolyn Kessler, Robbie Hedrick, Wayne Oster and Nancy Higgins. Swimming between five and ten feet were Darryl Pennell, Melody Wilmont, Pamela Bucy, Derba Ball, Thomas Garlitz, Janice Garlitz, and Randall Huffman.

Each month the YMCA offers this class to the residents of the Cumberland area. Reservations for the August class are being accepted. The class is limited to only 20 applicants and will be filled on a first come first served basis.

Va. Firm Seeks Bus Franchise

The Superior Bus Service of Harrisonburg, Va., has applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission to provide service from that city from Cumberland.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and Mayor J. Edwin Keech, in behalf of the Mayor and Council, have written the ICC supporting the application.

Robert C. Petersen, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said the proposal would provide service for residents of Brandywine, Franklin, Moorefield and Romney and mean greater convenience for people coming to Cumberland from those areas.

While limited service would result, it is the only public transportation open to these residents, Petersen said, adding, it is understood the company would initiate a trip one morning a week and return in the afternoon. If conditions warrant, this service would be extended, he continued.

The towns involved are within the trading area of Cumberland and many of their people come here for the greater part of their retail needs as well as professional services such as banking and the like.

The Chamber of Commerce asked consideration of the ICC to the Superior application.

Mayor Keech said this seems like a businesslike and logical way to approach the matter, and endorsed the plan and urged ICC consideration.

Local Legion Post Cited

Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, has been cited by the American Legion National Headquarters in Indianapolis for outstanding service to children and youth.

Announcement of the citation was made by Joseph Macon, commander of Post 13, who gave much of the credit for winning the award to Dr. William R. Allen, post child welfare chairman, and his committee.

"Child welfare is one of the American Legion major programs," Macon said, "and we are proud that our efforts have been honored in this way."

The citation was presented to the post at the annual convention last week in Baltimore by Department Commander Edward Walmsley of Sudlersville.

It is signed by the National Commander William R. Burke, Percy A. Lemoine, national child welfare chairman, and Randel Shake, national child welfare director.

All American Legion posts are required to submit an annual report of work for children and youth.

It was on the basis of this report that Post 13 won the citation for outstanding service during the past 12 months.

One of the activities which helped earn this recognition for the post is the annual picnic for crippled children and youngsters from families in unfortunate circumstances.

The committee planning the picnic this year will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the office of Dr. Allen in the First National Bank and Trust Company building. All members and former workers are urged by the chairman to attend.

Virginia Project Would Complete Water-Level Route To Winchester

The last 1.2 miles of dirt road of the West Virginia SRC at Keyser, the Virginia roads unit promised to build its part of the connecting link last summer.

Department of Highways contracts for four miles of new road linking West Virginia State Route 45 and U. S. Route 522 in Virginia.

This route, which reduces the mileage between Cumberland and Winchester, Va., from 72 to 65 miles, has been traveled by a growing number of Cumberland area motorists since the West Virginia State Road Commission completed eight miles of modern Route 45 from Forks of Cacapon to the Virginia line. The route is through the area known as Bloomery Hollow in Hampshire County.

This provided a 24-foot wide highway with 12-foot shoulders.

The water level route, which has been advocated by many residents of this section and the Eastern Panhandle for a long time, would start in Cumberland and proceed on Route 51 to Paw Paw.

Out of Paw Paw, the motorist can take Routes 9 and 29 to Forks of Cacapon then over W. Va. Route 45 to the Virginia line.

Once there, the route follows Virginia Route 698 to U. S. 522 and then into Winchester where the driver can get on Route 50. Route 50 from Winchester provides a level route into Washington.

According to District 5 officials three asphalt paving contracts are underway in Hampshire, Hardy and Mineral counties.

One covers 8.6 miles of U. S. Route 220 from U. S. Route 50 at Junction to the Hardy County line and the contractor is Asphalt Products Company of Martinsburg.

Another 6.7 miles of U. S. Route 220 in Hardy County from Moorefield to Durgon was started by General Paving Company of Morgantown.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been going with a very attractive girl for seven months. She is 29, a medical secretary and up until recently I had planned to marry her.

I heard two weeks ago from a very reliable source that six years before she knew me she had quite an affair with a married man and that it lasted almost a year. He helped buy the furniture in her apartment and they took a few trips together.

I was shocked when I learned of this, so I asked her. She said, "That's all over now and I don't want to talk about it."

Could a woman with a past like this be a good wife and mother? Please weigh your answer carefully because it means a great deal to me—NORTH CAROLINA GENTLEMAN

DEAR GENTLEMAN: The question is not whether this woman could be a good wife and mother. Rather, the question is could you trust her, believe in her and forgive the past?

From the tone of your letter I don't think you are equal to the challenge. I advise you to do yourself a favor and call off the marriage—for her sake as well as yours.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I divorced my husband two years ago because he worked too many nights. I realized soon after the divorce was final that it was a lot easier to have a husband who worked nights, than no husband at all. I tried for a reconciliation but he refused to come back. Last year he married a widow with a child and now she is expecting.

Our two children are 11 and 13 and hard to handle. Roy has helped a lot even though we live apart. Yesterday he phoned to tell me he is accepting a transfer which will take him 3,000 miles from here. I am frantic. I feel he has a moral responsibility to stay in town and help me raise our children.

I'm sure his present wife is pushing him to leave town as she is jealous of me. Please, Ann, tell me what to do to block the move—NEUROUS

DEAR NEUROUS: Sorry, you should have thought about your children before you threw your husband out. Now he has made a new life for himself and you are not part of it.

Of course it's your children who will pay the Big Price, but then that's what happens when you break up a family.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My parents gave a lovely party to announce my engagement. Several relatives on both sides of our families gave money instead of engagement gifts.

What I want to know is this: Would it be proper for me to split the money with my fiancée, and each of us spend it on whatever we want? Or should I keep all of it since my parents put on the party?—WEDDING MARCH

DEAR W. M.: The cash register is making so much noise I can't hear the wedding march.

The money was intended as a joint gift, to be shared by you and your fiancée. This means you are supposed to put it in a savings account (where it will draw interest) and use it after you are married. There will be many things you'll want to buy for your home, and the engagement money will come in handy.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — The tragic life of singer Edith Piaf in her plain black dress will never be forgotten by anyone who ever heard her sing. Frank Rosenberg traveled to Paris and persuaded Piaf to sell her story to Warner Brothers. William Orr, production head of this studio, will put Leslie Caron, who was so great in "Fanny" in the title role to play the somber singer.

Piaf has often been called France's greatest chanteuse and the most talented favorite since Bernhardt. She has been very sick but how wonderful if Warner could get her to record "La Vie En Rose" for the movie and all her own songs.

I was very glad to hear that Gene Tierney, who hasn't made a motion picture in six years, will play Dolly Harrison in "Advise and Consent" for Otto Preminger.

If you've read the book you'll remember she's the society woman who falls for the senate majority leader, which will be played by Walter Pidgeon. Dolly gives such elaborate parties in Washington that someone likened her to Perle Mesta.

A cable from Darryl Zanuck brings word that he has cast British actor Richard Todd as Major John Howard in "The Longest Day."

Says Darryl, "A strange angle is that Todd was a lieutenant in the airborne infantry troop which Major Howard led and which captured the Orne River Bridge in a daring glider attack early in the morning of June 6, 1944."

Joan Fontaine stopped in to see me on her way to the David Selznicks for dinner. She tells me she's off for Europe for a good time after she finishes "Tender is the Night."

"What about the battle with you and Jennifer Jones?" I asked her. "I hadn't even seen Jennifer, or worked with her when it was printed that we were battling," she said. "Wait 'til you see her in this movie, she's so good."

Six Hurt in Accident

A 22-year-old local man was admitted to Memorial Hospital and five others were less seriously injured in a panel truck-auto-mobile accident shortly before noon yesterday on State Route 51 near the Mexico Farms Road.

Admitted was Richard Lee Dorris, of 404 Washington Street, who

Mine Equipment Hit By Vandals

For the second time in two weeks, vandals hit equipment at a strip mine in the vicinity of Midland.

Sheriff Paul Haberlein reported he was called by Glen Clark, Westernport, who said much damage was done to a heavy-duty truck at the stripping operation at the old Hughes mine at Midland.

Deputy Sheriffs George Harris and William Orr investigated and found the truck riddled with bullets from a 22 calibre rifle. Hollow-point cartridges used spread widely when they hit the metal, tearing large holes in the body and cab of the truck.

In addition, a wheel drum from a 1951 International truck was stolen along with several new shovels, a box containing $60 worth of tools, and a heavy-duty wheel puller.

Sheriff Haberlein, who said his deputies have several strong leads to the whereabouts of the vandals, reported the mine was hit and damaged on July 9.

Opening lead: Seven of ♠

In today's hand selected from a tournament, North's improper use of the Blackboard convention supplied East with the clue needed to sink the overly ambitious contract.

At almost all tables the final contract was four spades, as it properly should be.

The seven of clubs was the favored lead and when East won with the ace much depended upon the return.

If the opening lead had been from the king of clubs it was essential to return that suit in order to cash another trick.

If declarer had the king of clubs the only return that could be profitable was the singleton heart in the hope that partner had a major suit ace. Since spades and hearts had both been bid by declarer, the usual return was the club and declarer, in taking 11 tricks.

At one table the bidding proceeded as in the diagram. Without further ado let us chalk up a bold demerit for North. His first two bids had done full justice to his holding and any slam efforts should be left to his partner's initiative. South, of course, was helpless.

At this table, when East won with the ace of clubs it was apparent that the contract could be defeated by the return of the singleton heart. In response to the Blackboard bid South had announced one ace; this left West with either the ace of hearts or the ace of spades and it mattered not which.

If it were the heart ace the contract would be defeated at once; if it were the trump ace, East would get his heart ruff when partner took the ace of trumps.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon will also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONOID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONOID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONOID's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONOID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONOID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONOID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Tawes Pledges Help In River Basin Program

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Tuesday pledged Maryland's cooperation in plans of the U.S. Corps of Engineers to develop the Potomac River Basin.

The governor and representatives of 10 State agencies met with Col. J. U. Allen and other officials to discuss the State's participation in plans which the Engineers will recommend to Congress.

They deal with development of the river basin for water supply, pollution abatement, flood control and recreation.

Will Cooperate

Tawes directed the State Planning Department to coordinate efforts of other State agencies "to produce a unified plan which can be supported by the various agencies having an interest in the development of the area adjacent to the Potomac River."

"Maryland has a vital interest in all matters affecting the Potomac River basin, and our State is most eager to cooperate with the federal government in a constructive program to solve the many problems which this basin presents," he said in a statement issued after the meeting.

Are Represented

Agencies represented at the conference included the State Planning Department, Department of Health, Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources, Board of Natural Resources, Department of Economic Development, Water Pollution Control Commission, Department of Forests and Parks, Department of Game and Inland Fish and Department of Tidewater Fisheries.

Other officials of the Corps of Engineers present included Col. T. H. Setliffe, Philadelphia district engineer; Col. W. R. Johnson, Baltimore district engineer; and D. Birrell, special assistant to the district engineer, Washington area office, Baltimore district.

Democrat Says New Taxes Aid Homeowners

BALTIMORE (AP) — The executive co-chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee said Tuesday that sales and cigarette taxes have lifted the property tax burden from Maryland taxpayers.

Dr. Clarence D. Long, co-chairman, said, "The information furnished by the Bureau of Fiscal Research to Gov. Tawes reveals that the distribution of revenue to the local subdivisions has lifted a huge property tax burden from the shoulders of every homeowner in Maryland."

He said the information "effectively squelches Republican attempts to cloud the facts surrounding recent adjustments in the sales and cigarette taxes."

"Some Republicans are trying to make a campaign issue out of these tax adjustments and are neglecting to mention that the almost $15 million yield is being returned to Baltimore City and the 23 counties," Long said.

He said the funds which already have been distributed have accounted for teacher salary increases throughout the state and will boost school construction programs in suburban counties. The local burden of welfare programs also have been lightened, he said.

Loar said minor brake damage resulted from the fire. Eighteen members of the fire company responded to the alarm, he added.

State Police To Investigate Organized Crime

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Tuesday directed Maryland's state police to cooperate "in every way possible" with federal and local law enforcement officers investigating organized crime and racketeering in Maryland.

Tawes issued the directive in a letter to Col. Carey Jarman, superintendent of state police.

He noted that the U.S. attorney for Maryland, Joseph D. Tydings, had announced that he intended to use the facilities of his office to cooperate with local authorities in a probe of Baltimore City and surrounding counties.

"As chief executive of the State of Maryland, it is my earnest desire to lend all assistance at our command in ferreting out information which will be of assistance in attaining the objectives of this probe," Tawes said in his letter to Jarman.

Potomac Edison Records Broken In Heat Wave

Monday's hot and humid weather resulted in the Potomac Edison Company setting a new record for the output of electric power.

Garland L. Johnston, district manager for the Potomac Edison here, reported the utility company set a new record for delivery of power for a one hour and for a 24-hour period Monday.

A new one-hour demand record was set when a peak of 350,000 kilowatts was recorded. This erased a mark of 331,000 kilowatts recorded the Monday before and topped last year's peak of 330,000 kilowatts, set in December.

For the 24-hour period Monday, a new record of 6,433,000 kilowatt hours was set, passing the previous 24-hour mark of 6,347,000 kilowatt hours set in December.

A heavy load of air conditioning and refrigeration coupled with the use of electricity for everyday household and industrial purposes were the factors contributing to the new high demand, Mr. Johnston said.

222 Inmates Stage Sit-Down At Md. Prison

JESSUP, Md. (AP)—Some 222 prisoners staged a sit-down strike Tuesday in two workshops at the House of Correction.

Prison officials eventually called in State Police for help, and all but 43 prisoners returned to work.

Those who refused to work were taken back to their cells. They will remain there "until they see things our way," said Edwin J. Schamel, assistant superintendent of prisons.

The strike began shortly before noon in the sewing shop when 135 prisoners quit work and sent a list of grievances to Warden William F. Steiner.

Steiner ordered the sewing shop to go back to work, and the prisoners eventually complied. Meanwhile, shortly after noon, the men in the wood-working shop struck.

When the wood-working prisoners refused to work or return to their cells, Steiner called State Police and 10 troopers were sent to the prison.

The troopers and eight prison guards went into the shop—armed only with nightsticks—and escorted those who refused to work back to their cells. Schamel said no force was used.

The prisoners' complaints ranged from dissatisfaction with food and recreation time to a demand for more time off their sentences for the work they do.

Prisoners now get five days off their terms for each month they work. They want 10 days off for each week they work.

This "time off" complaint was also made during a sit-down strike staged at three State penal institutions last year—the House of Correction, the Penitentiary and the Reformatory for Males.

Shell experts test for knock by accelerating up steep grade. In another test, that "fifth wheel" in the back is lowered onto the road to measure mileage precisely.

TOP PERFORMANCE:

Shell test crew reveals five ways to test your car for top performance—and how the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell can help you get it

To John Baker and John Watson (below) of Shell Research, top performance is a scientific standard. They measure it with precision instruments. But any good driver can run a version of their basic tests. Here are five they recommend.

Test #1. Quick starting

Count the seconds it takes to start your car. The engine should "snap to" in about two to three seconds. A slow start drains your battery. And it may flood your cylinders, causing performance troubles.

If your engine is balky, try Super Shell. It's blended with a frisky ingredient called Butane — to give you quick, easy starts.

Test #2. Smooth running

Pay close attention to your engine in traffic.

Does it vibrate roughly when you stop for a traffic light? Does it seem to "surge" as you pull away, then falter and fade?

The problem may be the wrong blend of gasoline.

In summer, for example, excessive heat can make winter grade gasoline bubble in the fuel line. Bubbles can interfere with the flow, causing rough running.

Shell scientists don't let that happen with Super Shell. When hot weather threatens, they adjust Super Shell's 9-ingredient formula to give it the correct volatility for smooth summer driving.

Test #3. Reserve power

On a turnpike, in light traffic, accelerate suddenly from about thirty miles an hour to the legal limit. Now ask yourself:

1. Did your car accelerate smoothly—with no faltering, no bogging down?

2. Do you have plenty of power to spare?

If you feel you've "run out of engine," it's time to do something about it.

Super Shell may be your answer. It contains TCP,* to help restore power lost to combustion chamber deposits.

And another Super Shell inredient, called Platformate, contains components that release 11 per cent more energy than even the finest of 100-octane aviation gasolines.

Test #4. Knock

Accelerate up a long, steep hill and listen carefully. If you hear a sound like marbles falling into an empty oil drum, you've got knock. It could cause engine trouble.

Take no chances. Switch to Super Shell. Its formula includes no less than three ingredients to fight the various causes of knock.

Test #5. Miles per gallon

Don't trust your fuel gauge when you measure miles per gallon. Take these three simple steps and be sure.

1. Start your test by filling your tank. Make sure the gasoline comes up to the brim. Write down your mileage reading.

2. Drive in your normal manner for at least three tankfuls—keeping a record of the exact amount you buy.

3. Finally, fill your tank to the brim again. Add up all the gallons you've bought (not counting the initial fill-up in step 1.) Divide this amount into your total miles driven. This gives you your miles per gallon.

Try this test with three tankfuls of Super Shell. You'll see what top performance really is.

A Bulletin from Shell Research—where 1,997 scientists are working to make your car go better and better.

Today Is Castro's National Holiday

Circuses but no bread would almost seem to be Fidel Castro's formula for mass rule. Cuba's national holiday since Castro's accession is July 26, the anniversary of the revolt eight years ago in which a band of rebel youths with Castro at their head attacked the Moncada Barracks in Santiago de Cuba.

About 100 students and soldiers lost their lives in the abortive uprising. Castro was sentenced to 15 years in prison but later was amnestied. It was from this event that the Castro "26 de Julio" or 26th of July movement took its name.

The date for the revolt was carefully chosen. July 26, 1953, represented the centenary of the birth of Jose Marti, leader in Cuba's fight for independence from Spain, who is often called "the Apostle of Liberty." Now the date offers a double occasion to invoke the name of freedom and nationalism.

The cruel irony is, however, that the 26th of July Movement has been an empty, vestigial body for over a year. Its meeting places have been transformed from political headquarters into fraternities for idealistic youngsters willing to serve as guides for visiting student delegations, to help raise funds for "arms and airplanes," to pitch in on scrap metal roundups and otherwise to assist government-sponsored projects, all gratis.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Union Dues For Politics

Years ago, when the Taft-Hartley Bill first came up for discussion, one of the arguments was that a union member ought to control the use of his dues for political purposes. For instance, a Republican member of a union ought not to be required to contribute to the Democratic Party by order of the union officials. As a matter of fact, some unions have gained enormous power by the use of union funds for campaign contributions. In effect, this is a form of political peonage and therefore is intolerable in a free society.

So, after all these years, the Supreme Court has come to the rescue of individual opinion and dignity by deciding that a man who is compelled to join a union because he works under closed shop conditions may veto the use of his dues for such political purposes as displease him. He remains master of his money. This is essential in a free political system where each individual possesses freedom of choice to decide his own course of action.

Although as the decision now stands, it is limited to the Railway Labor Act it can and undoubtedly will be applied to other than this industry. If its application is general, it can have a serious influence on our political system.

The central problem is that it costs so much to be elected to public office. In the days of Mark Hanna, a Republican could be sure of getting his contributions from corporations; today, corporate contributions are limited. The income tax has had the effect of putting a ceiling on private expenditures with the result that one has to be very rich indeed, either by inherited wealth or by "free money," that is, money that is hidden and untaxed, to make a sizable contribution to a candidate. The use of "free money" is illegal because no tax has been paid on it. In a word, it is cash money that is paid "under the table," as the expression goes.

A candidate must either be rich like President Kennedy or Governor Rockefeller or he may have some racketeer friends who can get him plenty of "free money," hoping that nobody will ever know about it or he can go to a labor leader and get a sizable donation.

It is the latter kind of money which is most practical and therefore smart politicians stand in right with certain labor officials who have large funds for "educational" purposes or to propagate trade unionism or who hand out their largess as an "under the table" contribution.

It is the high cost of campaigning, particularly the cost of television advertising which is so corruptive in our national life. It forces a candidate to find means for election to compromise his integrity.

In another case the Supreme Court dealt with the same issue in relationship to integrated bar associations. An integrated bar association is a lawyer's society to which all lawyers are required to belong by state law.

The question arises why any bar association should make political contributions. A bar association exists to police the legal professions, to see to it that lawyers are men of character and decency, to pass on the suitability of candidates for judicial office. Why should any bar association make a political contribution?

And yet, there has been such a case before the Supreme Court, in which the Court upheld compulsory bar association membership, which, in effect, makes the legal profession, a closed shop. Compulsory membership in bar association reduces the legal profession to a trade, disciplined by union officials.

One might ask whether this country is not becoming over-organized and if this excessive organization will not ultimately lead to a sort of fascism, under which political control rests not with the individual citizen, as a voter, but with powerful pressure organizations which control members of Congress by their ability to contribute satisfactorily to campaign funds.

Sooner or later, this issue will come to the fore as a result of some public scandal because the people will be shocked to discover how much money really goes into campaign funds and how it is contributed. Sooner or later, we shall find a way of protecting the ballot by limiting campaign contributions. Elections can be bought in the sense that candidates are forced to go beyond their consciences to satisfy contributors.

Tunisian Affair Has Worldwide Significance

By David Lawrence

The tragedy of Tunisia is not just an episode in the relations of two countries. It is worldwide in its significance. For it means that passion and not reason still is the ruling motivation in international disputes.

Frenchmen and Tunisians lie dead today, their families in mourning, just because the President of Tunisia was impatient and couldn't wait to invoke the orderly processes of the United Nations. Instead, these now become a procedure of autopsy to determine blame rather than a means of preventing bloodshed that has already occurred.

There is debate going on now as to where the responsibility for the attack on French troops shall be placed. Each side will insist it had legal rights under international law — the French to protect a base granted by treaty, and the Tunisians to order a foreign contingent to evacuate its sovereign territory when negotiations to effect a change in an existing agreement had stalled.

But impatience to get an agreement signed is not a justification nowadays for any nation to start a bloody conflict. World opinion has favored the use instead of the United Nations tribunals to bring about a settlement by peaceful means of all questions in dispute.

Press opinion in Europe is cautious and restrained. For Tunisia has been a friend of the West. But says the London "Times":

"President Bourguiba, hitherto respected in the West as a moderate nationalist leader in the New Africa, cannot expect much sympathy for his latest conduct over Bizerte. He can justifiably argue that continued French possession of the naval base at Bizerte is incompatible with Tunisian sovereignty. But dilatory though the French may have been in this matter, there was no excuse for Tunisia precipitating things to the point where a clash was inevitable. . . .

"Does Mr. Bourguiba seek to show that, like the Algerian nationalists whose rivalry he fears, he can also employ force to get what he wants from Paris? Is he attempting to cover up his designs on the Sahara — which run counter to both the French and the Algerian claims — with an exhibition of strength over Bizerte? Or did events pass beyond his control?"

Back of all this is an unexplained mystery. Why does a friend of the West suddenly go berserk in diplomacy? What influences are behind it? Certainly the stakes are high, as control of Saharan oil and pipelines to the Mediterranean comprise a valuable and important asset. Could it be that Mr. Bourguiba has decided, as have other African leaders, to "play both ends against the middle?"

For the Tunisian affair is not an isolated incident. It fits into a Communist pattern. Already the Tunisians are being hailed as heroes by the Communist press, and in some of the "neutralist" countries, too, the propaganda tirades have been turned on against the West.

The man who seems to have the clearest vision in Europe of what it's all about and unhesitatingly speaks out on the whole Communist technique is Lord Home, the British Foreign Secretary. In a speech Saturday night in London, he said: "Nero fiddled while Rome burned. What are we doing while the Communists openly plot to bring us down? For it is the creed of the Communists, which they repeat and practice every hour of the day, that, kept under constant unrelenting pressure, our way of life will collapse from within because it will lose inspiration and the will to survive. The first necessity for our people is to awake to the nature of the challenge. It is by way of the cold war to attack."

"For instance, a notable victory for the Communists would be to turn our young generation into unilateralists. . . . Russia and China would not shed a weapon but we should have shed any possibility of independent action. Is that the status which our young people wish for their country? And yet are they equipped with knowledge, argument, and counter-attack so that they may turn the tables on the propagandists who are planted and paid and extremely well informed?"

The "unilateralist" doctrine to which Lord Home refers is the tendency by some persons inside the West to urge that concessions be made to Russia on the theory that, in return, the Communists will voluntarily give up their aggressive tactics. America, for example, suspended nuclear tests, but there has been no way of knowing whether this was one-sided or two-sided, as the Soviets never allow any inspection.

Europeans are waking up to Communist intrigue, whether it is in the Congo or in Laos or in Cuba or in Tunisia. The latest exploits in Tunisia — where an important naval base that could be useful to NATO if war broke out is at stake — can hardly be explained as a spontaneous bit of recklessness by so intelligent a man as President Bourguiba.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

TOP HERO — Gen. Douglas MacArthur is by far the greatest hero of American extraction in the eyes of the Filipinos. He is their symbol of the great military leader, the liberator of their country from Japanese hands in World War II, and a moving spirit in obtaining independence for that country.

Therefore, it was no surprise when the Philippines government invited him to return to that land to lead the celebration of their Independence Day, which like that of the U. S., falls on July 4.

What was a little surprising, to the Kennedy administration at least, was a discreet check made by the Philippines government to find out the administration's attitude toward the invitation. Some people close to Kennedy were stunned to find that that government thought it necessary to run a check before issuing an invitation to a man of MacArthur's stature.

Anyway, the answer was swift and affirmative. Not only did President Kennedy heartily approve, he underscored his feelings by informing the Philippines government that he would provide MacArthur with a military jet transport to make the trip.

Proper Refrigeration Of Milk Important

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

It is well known that when milk is refrigerated it maintains its flavor and lasts longer before becoming sour. According to D. H. Jacobsen, Ph. D., research director of the American Dairy Association, it takes more than six hours for pasteurized milk to sour at room temperature (72 degrees F. or above). Milk delivered to homes, schools, or restaurants usually arrives at about 40 degrees.

The fate of milk depends upon sterilization and refrigeration. Pasteurization reduces the bacterial content of raw milk 97 to 99.9 per cent. The modern dairy is sanitary and most milk is of high quality. The bacteria that remain are slow growers, taking at least six hours to multiply sufficiently at room temperature to sour the milk. The majority are not harmful to man and are well tolerated.

These germs do not reproduce when milk is chilled in the refrigerator, but they are not killed. They start increasing when the milk warms so that the longer the container is kept out of the refrigerator, the sooner its flavor changes, its palatability is reduced, and souring occurs.

It is well to remember that home refrigerators vary; some are warmer than the 40 to 50 degrees recommended. In addition, the temperature goes up when the door is opened several times a day.

The situation changes when other bacteria such as streptococci or staphylococci get into the milk after the container is opened. They are deposited by breathing on or coughing over the milk or touching it with contaminated fingers. These microorganisms also increase when the milk is warm and hibernate when it is cold. The difference comes when they multiply enough to cause food poisoning.

What has been said of milk applies also to other dairy products. Butter, cheese, ice cream, fresh evaporated milk, and dry milk must be handled properly by producer, merchandiser, and housewife. Evaporated and dry milk last much longer but once the can is opened or dry milk is reliquified, the products should be refrigerated.

Members Of Congress Not Affected By New Conflict-Of-Interest Law

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The House Judiciary Committee last week unanimously approved a new conflict-of-interest law regulating government officials who might use their influence on behalf of private firms which employ them. Simultaneously, the Defense Department issued new regulations guarding against similar conflict of interest.

Neither of these touched one field where conflict of interest goes unchecked and usually unreported — namely, members of Congress who promote legislation in the House or Senate which helps companies which retain their law firms.

Simultaneously, Sen. George Smathers, Florida Democrat, vociferously protested my column reporting that he had introduced legislation benefiting clients retained by his Miami law firm, Smathers, Thompson, Maxwell and Dyer. He accused me of trying to make him "knuckle under."

I hasten to add that I have nothing personal against the junior Senator from Florida. He is handsome, charming, vivacious, intelligent, with many friends, and it is quite understandable that many Senators and high officials check in with him regarding entertainment tips before they go to Florida.

Sauce For Democrats — And Republicans

But having reported on the manner in which Sen. John Bricker of Ohio, a Republican, pushed legislative measures favoring the railroads while his law firm was retained by the Pennsylvania RR, and having reported on Sen. Andy Schoeppel, Republican of Kansas, and his votes favoring oil and gas companies when his Wichita law firm is retained by oil and gas companies, I do not see how Senator Smathers, a Democrat, can claim immunity from the reporting of similar facts.

Here are some of those facts: The 1959 ICC report of the Seaboard Railroad, Line 24, shows that $34,290 was paid to the firm of Smathers, Thompson (Maxwell) and Dyer. The 1960 ICC report of Seaboard shows, again on Line 24, that $62,810 was paid to the Smathers law firm. This is by all odds the largest expense Seaboard paid to any law firm. The Pennsylvania fee to the Bricker firm, incidentally, averaged around $30,000.

If you examine the Senate records, you will also find that the handsome Senator from Florida is chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Transportation, a key position important to several of his law firm's clients.

You will also find that he was the chief author and promoter of the Transportation Act of 1958, which, among other things gave government guarantees to private banks for the railroads, gave the railroads greater leeway in rate-making in competition with other carriers, and enabled railroads to drop passenger service merely by posting twenty-day notice, without justifying the curtailment.

This reversed the whole theory of regulating common carriers as a means of public convenience and caused havoc in many suburban commuter services.

No Law Re Congressmen

Some of this railroad aid may have been quite necessary. But the public is entitled to know that the man who wrote and pushed the legislation is a member of a law firm paid by an important railroad, and reporting it does not mean the writer is trying to make the Senator "knuckle under."

This kind of law practice, incidentally, is quite legal under the present laws of Congress. Congressmen and Senators don't pass many laws governing their own ethics.

Another interesting item, published in the Washington Star, April 2, 1961, indicates that Senator Smathers is continuing his interest in railroads.

"The Herbert Mays have been busy with guests," the Star reported from Palm Beach, Fla., referring to the former Mrs. Marjorie Post who controls the Post Toastie fortune. "Directors of the Nickel Plate Railroad last week held their annual board meeting at the May estate 'Mar-A-Lago.' Mr. May is a director and the group was entertained there for luncheon. Sen. George Smathers came down from Washington for the meeting."

The charming and delightful Senator apparently did not object to having the Star publish this interesting railroad fact, but he does protest when this writer reveals the legislation he introduced benefiting the railroads and the law fees received by his law firm from the Seaboard Railroad.

This is what he calls trying to make him "knuckle under."

Aviation Week, July 10, also published an interesting statement by Senator Smathers that he will demand cancellation of foreign air carrier permits if any foreign carrier cuts rates below IATA standards. He says he is going to see President Kennedy (his one-time golfing partner) about it. The Senator does not object to this news report, but doubtless will protest vociferously when it's herewith recalled that Pan American Airways is a steadfast client of the Smathers law firm, and Pan Am has been battling against Peruvian airlines, Ecuadorian airlines, Tanairlines of Honduras, and others which have charged cheaper rates than Pan Am.

These lines contend that Pan Am and Panagra charge the highest air fares in the world, averaging ten cents a mile, which permits only wealthier people in Latin America to travel, not the lower classes which President Kennedy is trying to help under his new aid plan.

They also point to the new Magnuson Bill urging travel to the USA and argue that one way to encourage it is by cheaper air rates.

Obviously there's room for argument on both sides. But the man who might seem prejudiced in making the argument is the charming Senator from Florida whose law firm is paid by Pan American Airways yet sits in the supposedly neutral position of chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Transportation.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The mansion is imposing. It stands among pines and firs on the shore of Lake Orion in Michigan. The name of it is Guest House. Old ivy climbs the wall slowly, peeks into second story windows, and climbs back down. There are crunchy driveways, paths, and flagstone walks. It is a sanitarium for alcoholic priests.

The Creator grants no immunity to illness. The clergy of all faiths are prey to the same sicknesses as the rest of man. Here, at Guest House, are the ones who are big enough to admit that they can't fight liquor alone. And, as Father Dennis writes: "Spiritual therapy alone is as ineffective in treating alcoholism as it is in treating any other disease."

The therapists at Guest House treat the whole man — the body, the mind, the soul. Priests young and old walk the paths in twos, in sports shirts and slacks, or sit under a big copper beech and meditate. At meal times, the priests wear their cassocks and collars. Like members of Alcoholics Anonymous, these men have a common topic; a chance to talk freely about the creeping darkness and terror of immoderate drinking.

It was Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit who first recognized that alcoholism among priests cannot be cured by a lecture. He was a wise man. He gave permission to the laymen of his archdiocese to start Guest House and he watched closely to see what the results would be.

He also enlisted the aid of good physicians, good psychiatrists, and he spurred the spurious shock of prominent Catholics who felt that drinking was too dark a sin to stand the sun. The result is healthy history: Guest House has arrested alcoholism in more than 80 per cent of all priestly patients, and bishops of other dioceses have started their own "Guest Houses."

Guest House treats clergymen from every part of the United States and Canada, and some have made the trip all the way from India. The director of the place, and many of the working staff, are former businessmen, and many of them are recovered alcoholics. They work hard to keep the place going, because it gets little financial assistance from anyone. When Guest House first opened, it cost $300 a month to treat a patient. The cost is now $600.

No one knows the cause of alcoholism. There is no offending germ or virus involved. Emotionally, the victim is almost always impatient; physically, his body cannot oxidize alcohol. He cannot live with liquor, and he can't live without it.

One priest, writing to another, stated the case perfectly: "Try to imagine, Father, what it means to be an alcoholic priest. Know that however loud our boast and bombast, these but covered the fear in our hearts and the terror in our souls. The tormenting sense of guilt, the despairing shame, the spiritual desolation — these were the emotions behind our bland masks.

"But why, you ask, why did you bring this misery upon yourselves? Why didn't you drink in moderation? Fair questions, Father. We could not drink moderately. In our bodies, a biochemical, a physiological change, had occurred. This made it impossible for our bodies ever to metabolize alcohol in a normal manner. After this came addiction. We didn't stop drinking because we couldn't stop.

"We tried. We went on the wagon, took pledges, made retreats, and prayed. Our bodies were allergic to alcohol, and our minds were obsessed with it. But now we are free. We have no need to drink. Today, I am soberly and happily at work in the task to which God has called me. . . .

There are about 4,000,000 chronic alcoholics in the United States. They account for more lost days at work, more accidents, more fires, more suicides, than the rest of the population. Only the pompous would believe that priests and ministers and rabbis might be immune to this sickness. In fact, organized medicine is disgusted with alcoholism and most hospitals refuse an alcoholic patient. "Sorry," the admitting clerks say, "we don't have enough beds for sick people."

Alcoholics are not regarded as sick people. This is a grievous mistake. They are as sick as people with cancer, and the outlook is equally dismal unless they are treated early. No one cures it by will power.

Once, when Bill Wister was trying to explain alcoholism to me, he used a sentence about drinking which never left my memory: "There are occasions when one is too many and a hundred are not enough!" . . .

Flood Toll At Charleston Stands At 22

Three-Year-Old Girl's Body Is Recovered

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Authorities said Tuesday there is an outside possibility other bodies still in the debris of last week's Charleston area flash floods but they believe the final death toll will stand at 22.

The 22nd body was recovered early Tuesday morning. Charleston firemen pulled from the Kanawha River the body of Debra Thompson, 3, whose 6-year-old sister Caroline also was one of the victims.

Authorities said Debra was the last person on their list of missing. Police said it was possible that others without friends or relatives in the affected areas could have been caught up by the massive flash floods and were not reported missing.

New anxiety was created in the stricken areas Tuesday afternoon by brief but violent rainstorms. Streets were flooded because of inability of sewer systems to immediately carry off a deluge of water.

In one 20-minute period, .37 inches of rain fell in Charleston. It was accompanied by strong winds which tore down a few power lines but caused no reported damage.

Huntington also had similar storms, with almost half an inch of rain during one 15-minute period.

The Thompson child and her sister were wrenched from the grasp of their father late last Wednesday night as he tried to lead them from their flooding home in the Wilson Hollow section of Charleston's East End.

Caroline's body was found by a radio newsmen about eight hours later. Debra's body was washed into the Kanawha River and was found three miles downstream, near the center of town.

Maris Belts Four Homers As Yankees Sweep White Sox

Ford Cops 18th Victory In Opener

New York Blasts 8 Round Trippers In 5-1, 12-0 Wins

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roger Maris drove in eight runs with four homers Tuesday night to go 24 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace of 1927 and lead a barrage of eight round-trippers that enabled the New York Yankees to crush the Chicago White Sox, 5-1 and 12-0, in a two-night doubleheader.

Whitey Ford went seven innings in the opener to win his 12th straight game and 18th of the season while Bill Stafford notched his ninth win with a six-hitter in the nightcap. Ford's 12 straight wins matched the longest winning streak by a Yankee pitcher since Atley Donald won 12 in a row in 1939 and Maris' four homers equalled the AL record for a doubleheader.

Maris hit his 37th and 38th homers and drove in three runs in the first game and then batted in five runs with his 39th and 40th homers and a single in the nightcap.

Mickey Mantle hit his 38th homer in the first game while Clete Boyer hit two homers and drove in four runs and Elston Howard also homered in the midst of the Yankees' 12-hit attack in the second game.

White Sox Manager Al Lopez was ejected in the fourth inning of the second game for arguing that Maris' 39th homer didn't land in the stands but Roger's 40th two innings later was a prodigious 450-foot drive into the Yankee Stadium center field bleachers.

Maris' 40 home runs in 96 games place him 24 games ahead of Ruth's pace en route to the major league record of 60 home runs in 1927. Ruth hit his 40th that season in the Yankees' 120th game on Aug. 22.

With his 38 homers in 96 games Mantle is 19 games ahead of Ruth's 1927 pace.

Celanese A.A. tossers shoved over the winning run in the seventh inning to edge the Loyal Order of Moose, 2-1, yesterday at Fort Hill, snapping the Moose team's five-game winning streak and knocking the losers out of second place in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

The defeat also broke the personal five-game win skein of pitcher Hayden Phillips as the Moose ace suffered his first setback in six decisions.

Nile Shuck outpitched Phillips to pick up his 12th win in 18 decisions this year. Both hurlers allowed only five hits.

Bill Ware opened the winning rally with a single and was forced by Goss, Smoky Howe then singled Goss to third and Jim Manges' sacrifice fly to left field scored the run which broke a 1-1 deadlock.

Ware and Shuck shared four of the winners' five bingles while Bill Thompson had a pair of singles for the Moose.

The Celanese team, which took over second place in the eight-team circuit, now has beaten the Moose tossers two of three games.

CCC Golfers Put 62-Match Home Win Streak On Line

Wins Two Matches
In Junior Tourney

NORBECK, Md. (AP) — Mary Alice Sawyer, the Baltimore junior girls' champion, reached the finals of the Middle Atlantic golf championship with two easy victories Tuesday and will meet Bridgett Donahue of Bethesda, Md., Country Club in the 18-hole final Wednesday.

Miss Sawyer lost two of the first three holes in her first round match, but defeated Mary Frances Edmondson of Columbia Country Club 3 and 2. In the afternoon, the blonde school girl won 7 and 5 over Theresa Orner of Argyle.

Miss Donahue had to go three extra holes to defeat Mary McCahon of Fairfax, Va., in the other semi-final.

In the boys' championship, it will be Kent Kittle against Ricky Billingsley and Jamie Gough against John Owen in an all-Washington semi-final. Kittle is from Bethesda Country Club, Billingsley from Kenwood, and the other two are from Army-Navy.

Miss Sawyer finished fifth in the Cumberland Country Club's eleventh annual invitation tournament last month with a 36-hole score of 169. Mrs. Barbara Hughes won the tourney and Old Export Bowl with a 158.

Cards Edge Cubs, 6-5

Ken Boyer Hits
Grand Slam Homer

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ken Boyer smacked a grand slam home run before the first man was out Tuesday, but the St. Louis Cardinals had to exploit one of four Chicago errors to beat the Cubs, 6-5.

The Cardinals jumped to a four-run lead on the first four batters to face Cub starter Jack Curtis. Successive singles by Bob Lillis, Julian Javier and Bill White filled the bases and Boyer lined his 15th home run of the year into the leftfield bleachers.

The Cardinals set the stage for the winning run when Jim Schaffer singled after two outs in the sixth. Schaffer moved around to third on a sacrifice and Lillis' infield single. Then Cub catcher Dick Bertell ignored Lillis' attempt to steal second and fired the ball to third. The throw was wild and Schaffer sprinted home.

The last team to defeat the men's golf team of the Cumberland Country Club comes here today to test the locals, who have won their last 16 matches and boast a home course winning streak of 62 matches that had its inception in 1946.

North Fork Country Club of Johnstown, Pa., opens its annual home-and-home series with the CCC linksmen today at 1 p.m. There will be a buffet luncheon at noon.

Last Loss In 1959
Johnstown was the last team to beat the locals August 12, 1959 by the score of 24½ to 20½ on the Keystone Staters course. Since then the CCC has reeled off 16 wins in a row in home and away matches. That 1959 setback, incidentally, was the only one for the CCC team in nine contests that season.

Fountain Head of Hagerstown was the last out-of-town team to win here and that was by the score of 45½ to 40½ points on July 6, 1946.

CCC Team Selected
Cumberland players will team up as follows for today's four-somes:

Richard Buskey and Clifton Van Roby, George Garlitz and Russell Ponton, Ed Mattingly and Bob Davis, John Wilson and Dave Klein, Ben LaNeve and Phil Jenkins, John Rokisky and Bob Robinette, Harry White and Max Bastian, Bill George and Mort Schaidt, George Petras and James W. Beacham, Dr. Whitworth and Chuck Giornetto, Dale Welch and George Bottorff, Bill Levings and Bill Zeller, L. E. Eisenberg and Earl Guard, Harold Marx and Paul Owens.

Elliott Makes Two Changes In Lineup

WARSAW (AP)—Coach Jumbo Jim Elliott made two changes Tuesday in the United States line-up that will face Poland in an international track meet Saturday and Sunday.

Earl Young of Abilene Christian will replace Adolph Plummer in the 400 meters and Hayes Jones of Pontiac, Mich., will start in the 100-meter dash instead of Paul Drayton.

Also, Ralph Boston will do double duty by taking over for Bill Sharpe in the hop, step and jump in addition to his broad jumping chores. Sharpe was sent home Monday with a bad leg.

New Trial Sought By Carbo's Group

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — U.S. Judge George H. Boldt will rule within 30 days on a request for a new trial for convicted boxing extortionist Frankie Carbo and four others.

Boldt delayed sentencing of Carbo, 56; Frank Palermo, 54; Truman Gibson Jr., 47; Joseph Sica, 49; and Louis Tom Dragna, 40, until he decides on the request.

Defense attorneys charged the men were denied a fair trial because the federal government used illegally obtained evidence.

Bob Turley May Go On Disabled List

NEW YORK (AP) — Right-hander Bob Turley of the New York Yankees underwent a complete physical examination Tuesday and there is a strong possibility he will be placed on the disabled list either for 30 days or the rest of the season.

Turley has been suffering from shoulder and arm trouble and has pitched only one inning since July 4. He has completed only one game in 12 starts and has an earned run average of 5.70.

Yankee Manager Ralph Houk said the doctor's report was not yet complete but that "it doesn't look good."

Carleton Molesworth, 86, Dies At Frederick Home

Starred In Minors,
Managed Barons,
Scouted For Pirates

FREDERICK (AP) — Carleton Molesworth, who was associated with organized baseball for 53 years, died at his home today after a long illness. He was 86.

Molesworth began his baseball career with sandlot ball clubs here, then went to the old Washington, D. C. club of the National League as a left-handed pitcher in 1895.

His major league pitching career was abruptly cut off, however, by a sore arm. From 1896 until 1922 he was active in minor leagues as a player and manager.

He was an outfielder with the Chattanooga, Tenn., club of the Southern League and later went with the Columbus, Ohio, club in the American Association, where he played as an outfielder for three years.

He managed the Birmingham, Ala., Barons in the Southern League for 20 years, and for 21 years was a scout for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Molesworth retired from baseball in 1947.

2 Pedestrians Hospitalized In Local Accidents

Men Injured By Automobiles

Two pedestrians were hospitalized yesterday afternoon when they stepped into the path of moving automobiles in separate accidents in downtown Cumberland and in South End.

Charles Carroll, 55, of 303 Decatur Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital after sustaining a possible fractured left leg and abrasions of the body. His condition last night was listed as "fair."

David G. Bumgardner, 65, of RD 4, Rowlesburg, W. Va., a B&O crane operator, was admitted to Memorial Hospital after he suffered an injury to his lower left leg and abrasions of the body. His condition is "good," said attaches.

City Police Detective Captain James E. Van said Mr. Carroll was hit by a car at the intersection of Baltimore and George streets at 1:15 p. m.

The driver of the car was Pearl Elsie Hutson, of Baltimore, who was traveling from North George to South George street when Mr. Carroll stepped off the curb at Baltimore street.

City police took the man to the hospital, according to Capt. Van, who said no charges have been placed against the Baltimore woman.

In the South End accident, according to police, Mr. Bumgardner had looked up at the traffic light and then stepped into the path of a car being driven by Joseph R. Bearinger Jr., 19, of 915 Virginia Avenue, a B&O clerk.

Bearinger was traveling north on Virginia Avenue, and after getting the green light was making a right hand turn onto East Laing Avenue when the man stepped into the right front part of the car. The McDonald ambulance took the man to the hospital. L. Donald Smith said no charges have been placed against the auto driver. The accident occurred at 3:35 p. m.

Traffic System In South End Is Now Working

The traffic light system at the intersection of the Industrial Boulevard and Virginia Avenue was in good working order yesterday afternoon, city police said.

Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney said a factory representative of Crouse-Hinds, who furnished the traffic lights, inspected the system in efforts to regulate it.

The police chief said the system "righted itself" and was in good working order. However in the event the light develops trouble, the police officer on duty will shut it off, said Chief Gaffney.

Industrial Unit Name Change Indicates Scope

The Cumberland Industrial Development Company yesterday changed its name to the Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company.

John E. Geare, president, said the action was voted at a membership meeting held yesterday afternoon in the conference room of the Chamber of Commerce.

The change in names to indicate the scope of the unit was made by amending the charter of the organization set up here several years ago to expand the industrial base of this Western Maryland industrial and transportation center.

Directors of the CIDC several weeks ago recommended the charter change after providing that representation on the board of directors be broadened to include organizational directors representing labor, Allegany County, the City of Cumberland and all other municipalities in the area served by the organization. Also discussed at yesterday's meeting, Mr. Geare said, was the appointment of a director for the UPIDC.

The position has been vacant since June 1, when Leonard C. Neff Jr., who had served as director since early in 1960, resigned to become director of the Community Development Division of the Kentucky State Department of Economic Development. There are several prospects for the position, Mr. Geare said.

State Police Arrest Youths In Burglaries

Face Preliminary Hearings Today

Three Hancock youths have been arrested by State Police in connection with a series of breaking and enterings of cabins in the eastern section of Allegany County.

One of the youths, Ernest Leon Collins, 18, of RFD 1, Hancock, was released last night after posting $1,000 with Magistrate Russell V. Nierman at Flintstone.

The other two, both 17 years old, are being held in Allegany County Jail.

The investigation in the case was conducted by Tfc. George C. Wachter and Trooper John W. McFarland of the LaVale detachment and Tfc. Robert Spickler of Hagerstown.

Collins is charged with four breaking and enterings and the other two are believed to be involved in eight entries.

The burglaries occurred July 15 and 17. Items removed from the cabins included a boat motor, mattresses, beer and soft drinks. A refrigerator also was damaged at one of the cabins and a quantity of food spoiled.

Trooper McFarland said last night the state's attorney's office is expected to get waivers from Juvenile Court on the two 17-year-olds and the three will be given preliminary hearings this afternoon in Trial Magistrate Court.

Boy Jailed In Theft Of Used Car

A 16-year-old Flintstone area youth who stole a car Friday night from a used car lot and was chased by State Police at speeds over 100 miles an hour was ordered committed yesterday to the Maryland Training School.

Juvenile Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin found the youth guilty of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and Magistrate Paul W. Barnett also found the youth guilty of four other motor vehicle violations at a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court.

The youth was arrested by Trooper C. R. Mauzy, who said he chased the young boy at speeds over 100 miles an hour on Martin Mountain Saturday night.

The youth admitted taking a 1960 Thunderbird from a used car lot Friday night and keeping it at his home. He abandoned the car on Rocky Gap Road and it was traced to the youth through the license plates. He had put his own plates on the car.

Magistrate Barnett gave the youth jail terms in default of $235 in fines, but ruled that the sentence may run concurrently with his period at the training school.

Catherman Is High Bidder For Shrine Building

Structure To House Business School

Charles S. Catherman Jr., vice president and general manager of Catherman's Business School, 171 Baltimore Street, is the high bidder for the Ali Ghan Shrine City Club building on South Centre Street.

William C. Holbrook, president of the City Shrine Club, said the board of directors voted last night to authorize the sale to the highest bidder.

Mr. Catherman said the present school will be moved to the South Centre Street building about the first of next year. He said his bid for the building was in the neighborhood of $30,000.

His father, Charles S. Catherman, is president of the local school, having retired about three years ago.

In 1917 Mr. Catherman purchased the Tri-State Business College from B. F. Shaffer. It was located where the Medical Building is now, across the street from the City Shrine Club.

In 1919 Mr. Catherman moved the college to the Baltimore Street location, where it has been ever since.

The second and third floor of the Ali Ghan Shrine Club building will be utilized for the school facilities and the first floor will continue to be leased to the present occupant, the Commercial Press Company.

The City Shrine Club facilities will eventually be moved to the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The move is part of the over-all expansion program of Ali Ghan Temple, AAOONMS, which included the construction of a swimming pool and enlargement of the country club.

The club's officers received a number of written bids for the building. A general membership meeting was held on July 11 and the board was authorized to sell the structure to the highest bidder.

Celanese Plans Transfer Of Plastics Units

NEW YORK (AP) — The Celanese Plastic Co. Tuesday disclosed plans to transfer production of blow molded plastic containers from Chicago and Trenton, N.J. to plants at Batavia, Ill. and New Castle, Del.

President David Taylor of the Celanese Corp. of America Division said the moves are designed to expand production in the east and midwest to serve increasing demands.

Blow molded plastic containers are used for many volume household commodities such as detergents, bleaches and starch.

The Northwest Chicago plant employs 170 while there are 100 workers in Trenton. Both will be closed.

A new plant will be completed in Batavia in October and will provide almost four times the production space as the Chicago plant.

Taylor said the company has bought a plant building in New Castle which will provide more than double the container manufacturing area available at Trenton. The move will be made within three months.
